Introduction

This document contains the monumental inscriptions for the Parish Church of Earley St Peter in the Royal County of Berkshire, including its Churchyard. Besides the inscriptions on gravestones, monumental inscriptions include memorial inscriptions inside the church, whether they be on choir stalls, stained glass windows or as dedications inside books. The memorial plaques on benches and the war memorial are also listed. The main index at the end lists ALL the names mentioned in the inscriptions in name order, together with dates of birth and death, ages and places where these have been indicated. A smaller place index lists those inscriptions which mention a location. These inscriptions were recorded by members of the Berkshire Family History Society between June and November 1989.

The Berkshire Family History Society

The Berkshire Family History Society started its life as the Reading Amateur Genealogical Society in 1973 and emerged under its present name in 1975 to encourage the study of family history in Berkshire. The Society currently holds monthly meetings in Reading, Slough and Newbury and publishes a quarterly magazine. Information about joining the Society is normally available at libraries with local studies sections and the County Record Office at Shire Hall.

Monumental Inscriptions

Monumental inscriptions are a useful source of information to family historians particularly as they often give dates, places, ages and relatives which are not available by other means. The mere fact that two adjacent gravestones refer to the same surname can confirm other evidence. This is why family history societies record and index monumental inscriptions to make them more available and to form a more permanent record than stone exposed to the elements can provide.

Parish of Earley St Peter

The Parish of Earley St Peter dates back to 1842, before which the area formed a liberty within the Parish of Sonning. The foundation stone was laid on 2nd April 1843 (see S3) and the building was complete by 1844. The interested reader is referred to "THE PARISH AND CHURCH OF ST. PETER EARLEY" by Ernest W. Dormer, 1944.

The churchyard has been extended twice and eventually an extension opened nearby at Mays Lane with the first burial in 1936. Since then the burial ground at Mays Lane has been transferred to the jurisdiction of Earley Town Council and no monumental inscriptions from there have been included in this index and document.

The churchyard is now full and cannot accommodate any further burials or the interment of ashes unless an existing plot is used.

Who has copies of this index and transcript?

Copies of this document will be found at: Reading Central Library, Local Studies section; Society of Genealogists, 14 Charterhouse Buildings, Goswell Road, London EC1M 7BA; Berkshire Family History Society reference library and the Parish Church of Earley St Peter, Church Road, Earley, Reading, RG6 1EY. Other transcripts and indexes of Berkshire churchyards will also be found at the first three locations.

Acknowledgements

The Berkshire Family History Society wishes to thank all those who helped directly or indirectly in the production of this index. The vicar, the Revd. Paul Batson, the Parish Church Council, churchwardens and parishioners for their encouragement, interest and considerable efforts in tidying the churchyard. Especial thanks are due to Jack Brown for the availability of an excellent map of the churchyard.

Thanks are also due to those members of the Berkshire Family History Society who contributed their spare time to this project: (in alphabetical order) Ron and Joan Ash; Shirley Ball; Joan Bernard; Edna Bowman; Cecilia Burden; David Cruse; Peter Day; Barbara Debney; Cliff and Jean Debney; Imogen Dorey; Warren Fenner; Meg Goswell; David Hammond; Chad and Lesley Hanna; Gwen Hardwidge; Bob Hudson; Phyllis Keridge; Kevin King; Margaret Lyall; Diana Mackarill; Ann McKie; Vincent Millett; Reo Muir; Alan and Jean Perrin; Simon Pinkney; Valerie Richardson; Mike Seymour; Ella Sutherland; Clive Tomlin; David and Yvonne Watkins; Jennifer Whiteley; Louise Wilkinson; Bryan Willson; Marilyn Wooldridge and any others.

The transcript and index have been thoroughly checked, but in a work with this magnitude of detail some errors will inevitably remain. The Berkshire Family History Society cannot accept liability for any errors and recommends that the reader views the original monument or inscription where any doubt exists.

How to use the index and transcript

First, locate the name or names of interest in the index which is in order of surname. Where there is a choice the forenames, dates and ages will help.

Second, use the section and number from the first two columns of the index entry to locate the inscription in the transcript. The transcript is arranged in sections, and each section is arranged in rows and then plots. Not all plots have a monument.

Third, use the section and number to locate the plot on the map of the churchyard and in the churchyard itself. Section

S refers to the interior of the church and other inscriptions not related to graves (such as the war memorials).

In the transcript each monument has a separate paragraph, with the section and number against the first monument in a plot. Square brackets [] have been used to distinguish text which does not appear on the monument, such as the description of the monument and also to show where doubt exists. To save space, the end of a line on the monument is shown by a single slash, '/', where the inscription moves to another face or block of stone there may be two slashes, '//'. To make the transcript easier to read names are in capitals and lower case has been used elsewhere.

There is an entry in the name index for every name mentioned in the inscriptions (with the exception of the masons). Dates and ages are included in the index where given in the inscription. Dates are numeric in the form "day/month/year" and a '??' in a date means that that part is illegible, while 'oo' means that it is absent. In some cases the letters 'a' or 'b' have been added to a date to indicate that the death (or birth) happened 'after' or 'before' that date, respectively.

Points to remember:

- ◆ if someone dies in their 83rd year they are actually 82.
- ◆ dates of birth, especially the year, are much more suspect than the date of death, and that the same applies to the age.
- ◆ the original inscriptions may not be very legible and therefore open to interpretation.
